ABOUT THE PUBLISHER

Orthodox Logos Publishing

In 2007 the Orthodox Logos Foundation, alongside its online bookshop, started a publishing house, with the aim of making the written heritage of the (Eastern) Orthodox Church accessible to a wide public in the West, and in particular in the Dutch-speaking world.

Orthodox Logos Publishing seeks to make Eastern Orthodoxy better known in the West, and does so “from within”, by publishing and republishing works from the libraries of Orthodoxy translated into Dutch (and into other languages as well), and by republishing and publishing original and new, contemporary works in Greek, Russian, Romanian... Many people in the West hardly know, or know only in passing, what is meant by “Orthodoxy” (also called Eastern Orthodox Christianity) and the Churches connected with it, their way of thinking and of life, their liturgical celebrations, their reading of Scripture and their study of the Fathers, and so on.

Orthodox Logos Publishing strives to reach a new public interested in this tradition – young and old, well read and little read, schooled and unschooled.

The books published by Orthodox Logos Publishing are meant for all who are seriously seeking the experience and knowledge of the spirit, its practice and its theology, that is, the deeper roots of Christianity. It is this perspective of Orthodoxy – which, as is well known, arose and flourished in the many churches and monasteries of the East (Palestine, Egypt, Syria, Arabia), and later spread to the Byzantine Empire, ancient Russia, Bulgaria and the other Slavic lands, and to Georgia, Romania and Albania, for example – that, surprisingly, still makes a clearly defined contribution in our own time, with a voice entirely its own, in Western Europe and America, through its mystical liturgical life and its ascetic and monastic tradition.

The Orthodox approach to Christianity has found expression in an unimaginably vast and rich book culture, has been handed down to posterity and preserved to this day, and is continually put into words and committed to books anew. For that reason special attention is also given to works that arise from present-day spiritual practice.

LIVES OF SAINTS

Thirza Buijckx

Euphrosynos and the Kingdom of God

The Life of Saint Euphrosynos, the Cook

Illustrations: Elisabeth Bilická

“Blessed are the poor in spirit, for theirs is the kingdom of heaven.” (Mt 5:3)

Euphrosynos was a very ordinary boy. He was not good at his lessons, and the other children picked on him for it. One day, helping in the fields of a monastery, he hummed the hymns of the Church – and the monks cheerfully sang along. So began a life that no one had seen coming.

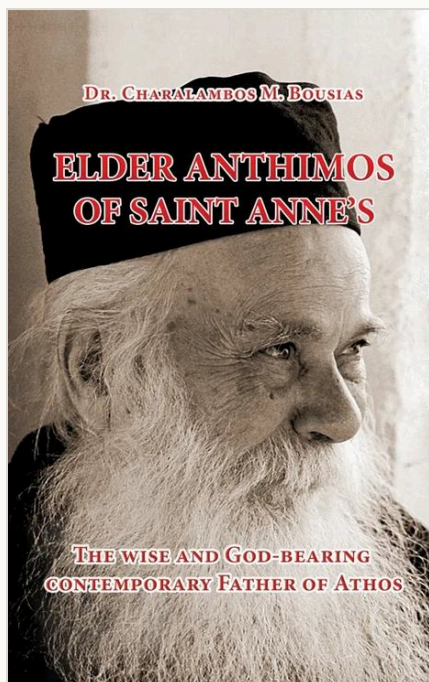

As the monastery's cook, Euphrosynos chopped the vegetables, tended the fire and cleaned everything up again. He could not go to the services, for he spent the whole morning in the kitchen and his clothes smelled of lentils or of fish. But he did not mind. In the quiet kitchen he could talk with God all day long, and that was what he loved most of all.

While the monks argued among themselves about what the Kingdom of God really is, the cook had long been living in it.

LIVES OF SAINTS

Dr. Charalambos M. Bousias

Elder Anthimos of Saint Anne's

With great pleasure, we announce the publication of the long-awaited English language edition of ELDER ANTHIMOS OF ST. ANNE'S, the wise and God-bearing Contemporary Father of Athos, by Dr. Charalambos M. Bousias. It was translated from the sixth Greek edition of 2004 and contains material not included in the Greek edition.

Although the name of the Athonite Elder Anthimos (1913-1996) has not yet been added to the Church's calendar of saints, many of those who knew him have testified to the holiness of his life and his strictness, or exactitude, in matters of the Orthodox Faith. This wise ascetic of Mount Athos has shone forth in our times "like a star shedding a new light of piety and as a brightly shining vessel of grace." People were drawn to this humble monk because of his wise spiritual counsel and the holiness of his life.

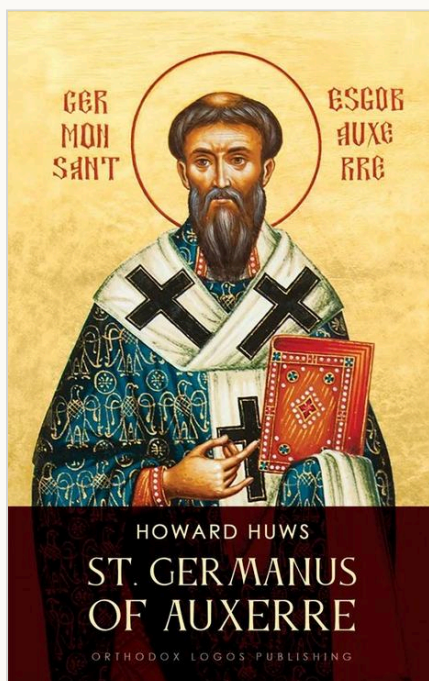

Reading the life of Elder Anthimos, we discover that he was indeed a holy ascetic who strove to purify himself of every sinful inclination and to acquire every virtue.

LIVES OF SAINTS

Howard Huws

St. Germanus of Auxerre

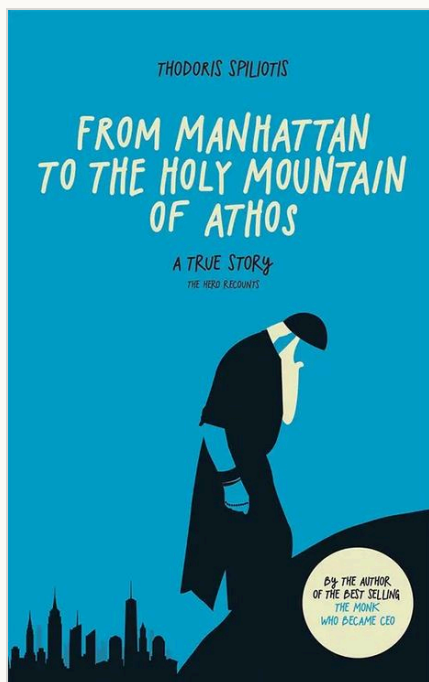

Being interested in both Orthodox spirituality and post-Roman history, I cast about for a volume presenting all that is known to us about one of the most famous and influential figures of the 5th century, Saint Germanus, Bishop of Auxerre; and finding none, have dared distill into one booklet the works of those scholars who have cast light upon one aspect or other of St Germanus' life and works.

We know more of him than of St David, St Patrick, Arthur, or any other figures of the Age of Saints, because of the distinct impression he made upon his contemporaries. He is known to have visited the Isle of Britain at least once, if not twice; and his fame spread far, permeating especially into the collective memory of my own Welsh nation, amongst others. Our forefathers delighted in talk of his deeds, reminding each other of his aid and leadership in trying times.

We have inherited great respect towards him, consecrating many churches and wells to God in his name and naming both sons and places after him.

SPIRITUAL LIFE & PRAYER

Thodoris Spiliotis

From Manhattan to the Holy Mountain of Athos

“You need to get lost to find your way.”

The protagonist of this true story is potentially every reader. The twists, surprises and thrills it holds are, on a micro scale, the definition of human life. And if the recording of this personal story aspires to achieve anything, it is precisely to inspire in its readers the courage to live their lives as their heart and their calculus dictates.

September 1973. Manhattan, a global commercial and business centre. In Athens, the escalating student mobilisations against the Junta of the Colonels foreshadowed the great revolt of the Polytechnic in November of the same year. The emerging socio-political tension and insecurity in the country lead Peter to the decision to leave his homeland and family behind and go to New York, the metropolis of the world, to study.

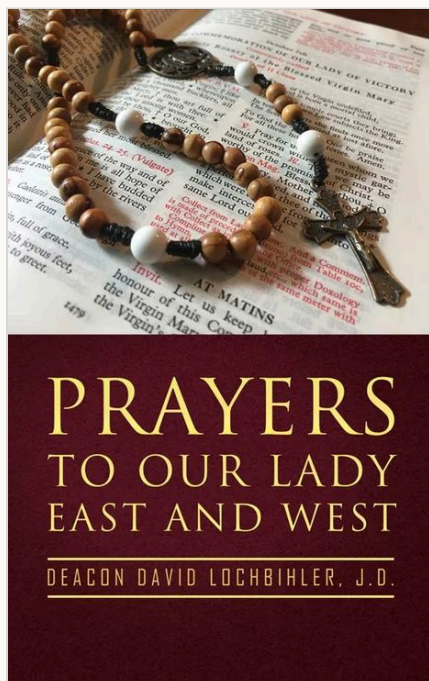

How much does the American dream and the “sky is the limit” philosophy influence him in his personal self-realization and happiness?

SPIRITUAL LIFE & PRAYER

Deacon David Lochbihler, J.D.

Prayers to Our Lady East and West

I learned about the Blessed Virgin Mary as a child attending a superb Roman Catholic grade school and as a teenager studying at an excellent Catholic high school. My friendship with Our Lady was nurtured at the University of Notre Dame and deepened throughout my adult life. Later as a Wesleyan pastor, I missed the Virgin Mary as an intimate and important part of my life. Finally coming home, called in significant part by my yearning for Our Lady, I fell in love with the Theotokos as a Deacon in the Orthodox Church. This book offers a researched comparative analysis of the Eastern Prayer Rule of the Theotokos and the Western Rosary.

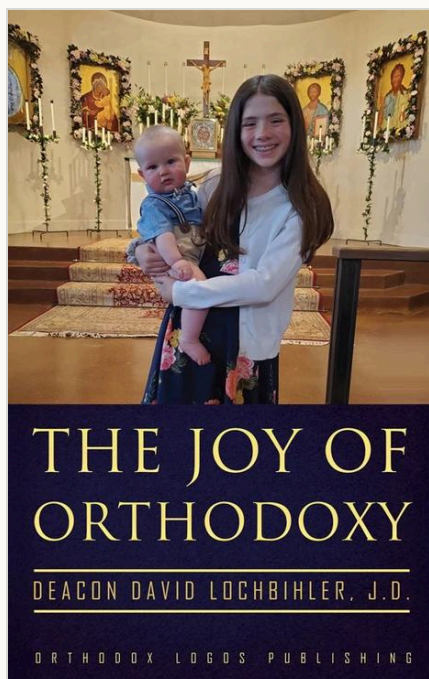

Deacon David Lochbihler currently serves at Saint Patrick's Orthodox Church in Bealeton, Virginia. He teaches fourth grade at The Fairfax Christian School in Northern Virginia. After graduating summa cum laude from the University of Notre Dame and cum laude from the University of Texas School of Law, Deacon David worked as a Chicago attorney for three years before becoming a teacher and coach.

SPIRITUAL LIFE & PRAYER

Deacon David Lochbihler, J.D.

The Joy of Orthodoxy

We experience Orthodox Joy most prayerfully and powerfully during the Divine Liturgy. Focusing on seven virtues, this book offers practical advice for our daily journey by calling us to strive towards living a different virtue every day. After receiving the Eucharist with a deep and abiding joy during Mass, our most joyful union and communion with God, we dedicate each day of the week to these virtues: Monday, Humility; Tuesday, Purity; Wednesday, Holiness; Thursday, Love; Friday, Longsuffering; Saturday, Prayer; and Sunday, our return to Joy: The Joy of Orthodoxy.

Deacon David Lochbihler, J.D., celebrated The Joy of Orthodoxy on the day of his Diaconate Ordination during the Feast of Saint Patrick in 2019 at Saint Patrick Orthodox Church in Virginia. He also teaches fourth grade at The Fairfax Christian School in Northern Virginia. After graduating summa cum laude from the University of Notre Dame and cum laude from the University of Texas School of Law, Deacon David worked as a Chicago attorney for three years before becoming a teacher and coach for three decades.

SPIRITUAL LIFE & PRAYER

Deacon David Lochbihler, J.D.

Our Orthodox Holy Family

A Joyful Journey with Jesus and Mary

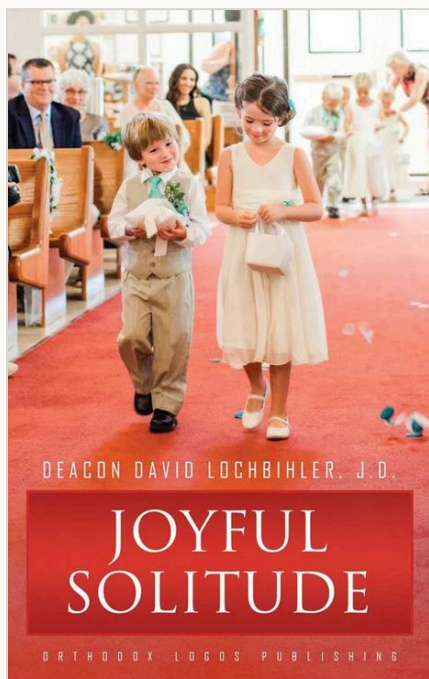

Sacred Scripture quotes Jesus Christ only once during the first thirty years of His life on earth. The twelve-year-old asks two precise and profound questions: “Why did you seek Me? Did you not know that I must be about My Father’s business (Luke 2:49 NKJV)? Other translations say “about My Father’s house.” Neither the Greek word for “business” nor “house” is found within this pivotal verse. For centuries Biblical scholars delved deeply into this interpretive predicament. Deacon David combines extensive research and superb storytelling to bring the historical drama and dilemma of Luke 2:49 to life.

Deacon David Lochbihler, J.D., serves at the Holy Altar at Saint Patrick Orthodox Church and teaches Fourth Grade at The Fairfax Christian School in Virginia. After graduating summa cum laude from the University of Notre Dame and cum laude from the University of Texas School of Law, Deacon David worked as a Chicago attorney for three years before becoming a teacher and coach for three decades.

Joyful Solitude

Joyful Solitude explores both the effects of the global pandemic upon people of faith and how best to respond to the challenges and crises in our lives. The Apostle Paul, a prisoner facing the threat of Roman execution, authored epistles calling the faithful to rejoice despite living amidst the direst circumstances. Combining theological research and sincere storytelling, Deacon David offers a way to experience this joy by immersing ourselves fully into the liturgical and sacramental life of the Orthodox Church.

He also earned three Master's degrees in Elementary Education, Biblical Studies, and Orthodox Theology. Fruit of the Spirit

An Orthodox Anthology

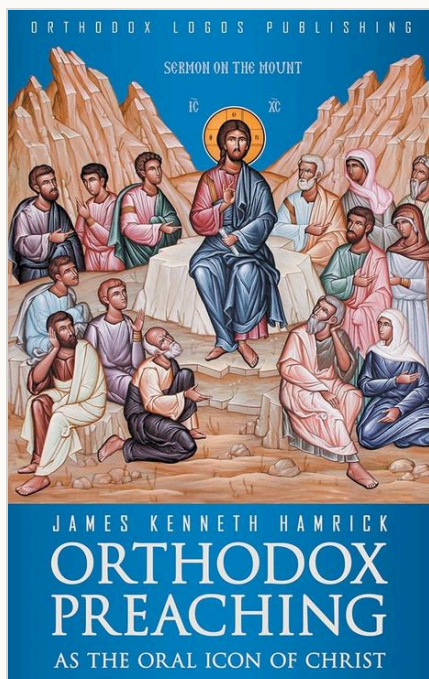

Superb storytelling and sound research offer a fun and fascinating glimpse into the Fruit of the Spirit described in Galatians 5:22-23: love, joy, peace, longsuffering, kindness, goodness, faithfulness, gentleness, and self-control. The timeless truths of Orthodoxy permeate our everyday lives each and every moment. The author submitted these twelve articles to The Word, the periodical of the Antiochian Orthodox Christian Archdiocese of North America, and the magazine published five of the essays.

THEOLOGY

Christopher J. Mertens

The Beatitudes

A Pathway to Theosis

Mankind is created in the image and likeness of God for the purpose of sharing in the Divine Life and participating in the blessedness of the infinite glory and goodness of the Holy Trinity. The Beatific Vision is not seeing God in His essence, but rather seeing God by possessing Him within oneself. Communion with God is attained through the cooperation of the divine and human will, whereby the follower of Jesus Christ puts on Christ through the sacraments of the Church and imitates the life of Christ through the sanctifying work of the Holy Spirit, to the glory of God the Father.

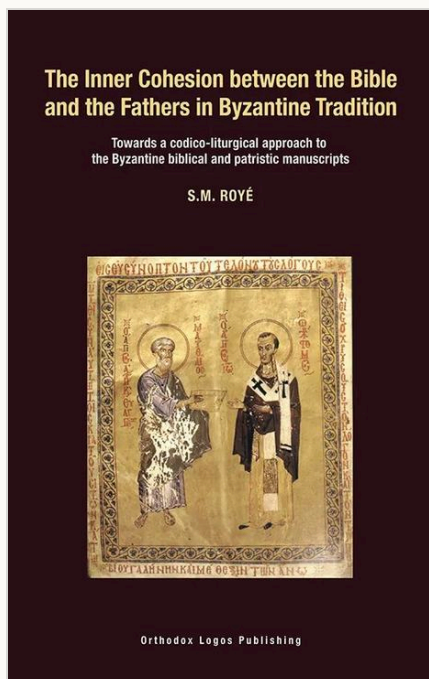

In the opening words of His Sermon on the Mount, Jesus describes all that produces beatitude. The very intent of the Beatitudes is to issue the Father's divine call for man to enter into the blessedness of the Divine Life. The Beatitudes therefore illuminate the pathway to theosis ("deification" or "divinization"), a journey of eternal progress in the virtuous life by which one is perpetually transformed into the likeness of God, from glory to glory.

THEOLOGY

S.M. Royé

The Inner Cohesion between the Bible and the Fathers in Byzantine Tradition

Towards a codico-liturgical approach to the Byzantine biblical and patristic manuscript

Throughout the rich history of Bible research and patrology, a palette of different traditions has always existed. One of these, which is based on an abundant manuscript tradition of biblical and patristic interpretation, is the tradition of the Eastern Orthodox Church. In this book a liturgico-codicological approach to the Byzantine biblical and patristic manuscripts is set out. This approach offers a key to understanding the position of the biblical and patristic writings in the Eastern Orthodox Churches. It stems from what is termed a 'liturgical hypothesis' and implies the necessity of a thorough reclassification of the extant manuscripts.

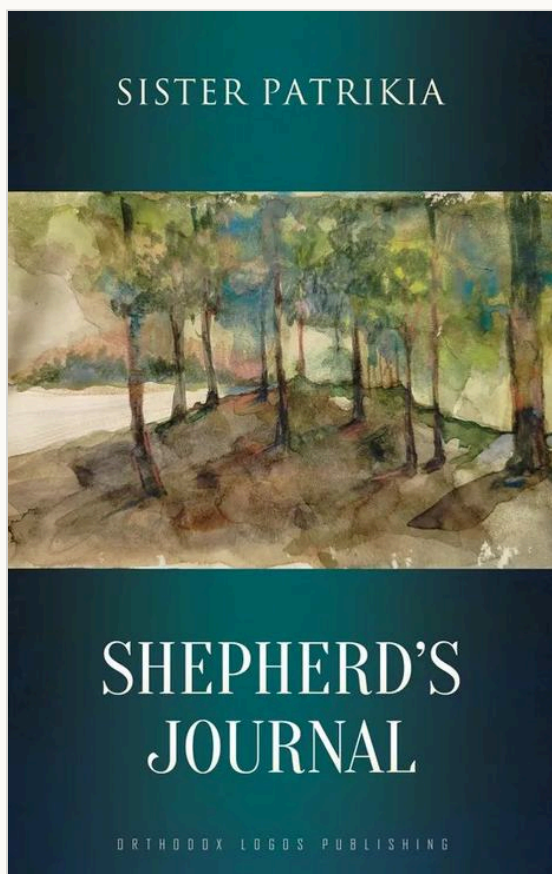

Characteristic of the Orthodox approach are the anchoring of the biblical writings in the liturgy of the Church, and the close connection between the Scriptures and the interpretative framework of the fathers.

STORIES & FICTION

Pyotr Volkov

The Final Kingdom

Pyotr Volkov (born in Uruguay as Diego Daniel García) is an anthropologist and historian with a special interest in past and current events related to the great history of Slavdom and Orthodox Christianity. For an entire decade, he worked to create an ambitious book in which Orthodox Christianity is put at the center of all political, economic, philosophical, and anthropological considerations which shape our modern world. In this very encompassing book, the author provides the reader with special tools to accomplish an almost impossible task: a holistic Meta-ideology (Normativism), being characterized by comprehension of the parts of reality as intimately interconnected to the grand whole of the divine and earthly, the spiritual and material opposites. The long journey expressed through this book goes all the way from ancient religions, the developing of Christian Orthodoxy, and contemporary philosophers like the polemical Russian thinker Aleksandr Dugin, whose provocative Fourth Political Theory is an invitation for the creation of new alternatives in the path to human salvation through civilizational redemption.

Christina Nikitara-Kremmyda

De Heilige Porfirios van Kafsokalivia

Saint Porphyrios of Kafsokalyvia

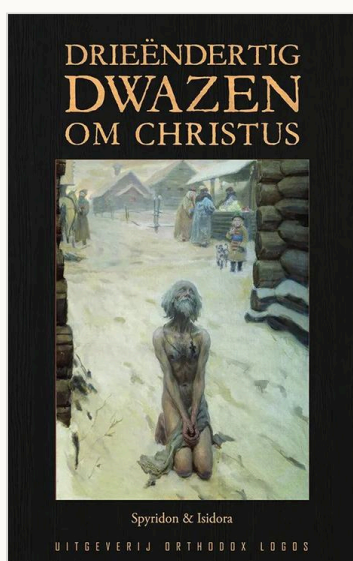

In a world marked more and more by unrest, confusion and spiritual dryness, this book points to another way: a loving and thoughtful witness to living holiness in the Orthodox Church. Through biographical accounts, personal recollections and many testimonies, it portrays St. Porphyrios of Kafsokalyvia and his spiritual child Fr. Daniel Gouvalis, two humble servants of God who by prayer, asceticism and unconditional love healed countless people in soul and body. Written for seekers, sufferers and doubters, it invites the reader to rediscover what St. Porphyrios said: "When we love Christ, everything is healed."

LIVES OF SAINTS

Spyridon and Isidora

Drieëndertig Dwazen om Christus

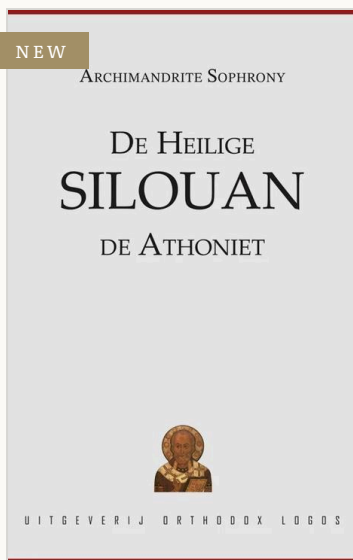

Thirty-Three Fools for Christ

Readers of the saints' lives meet them here and there: fools for Christ, or holy fools, "fools for Christ's sake" in the words of the Apostle Paul in 1 Corinthians 4:10. This book gathers thirty-three of them, twenty men and thirteen women, each showing within this remarkable ascetic struggle a different kind of conduct and gift of grace, from the quiet and humble to the exuberant and downright shocking. Their labour is a cross of mockery, ill-treatment and contempt, borne day after day, and it shows how many gifts of grace God gives to someone who submits entirely to Him. These servants of God do not leave the reader unmoved.

Archimandrite Sophrony (Sakharov)

De Heilige Silouan de AthonietDutch edition of Saint Silouan the Athonite

Archimandrite Sophrony describes faithfully the ancient monastic spirituality that still lives in some monasteries on Mount Athos, in the deserts of Egypt and Judea and in the Balkans. St. Silouan (1866–1938), a Russian monk of peasant origin who spent much of his life on the Holy Mountain, sought the personal God not through dogmatic theology but through asceticism and prayer. He was granted the grace to see Christ and received from Him the words that sum up his teaching: “Keep thy mind in hell, and despair not.” The author founded the monastery of St. John the Baptist in England; Sister Elisabeth (Koning) translated this Dutch edition.

Irina Gorainoff

Serafim van Sarov

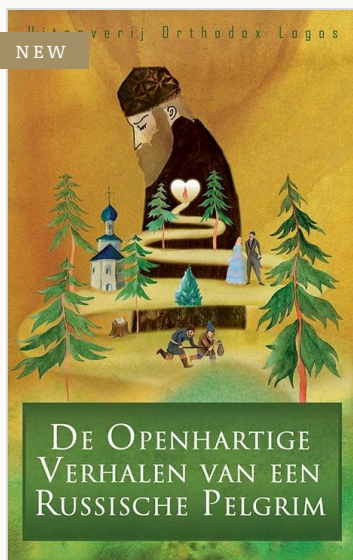

Seraphim of Sarov

The life of St. Seraphim of Sarov (1759–1833) has become popular even in the West: an old man with stern, fine features and bright blue eyes, a friend of children and animals, who greeted everyone he met with the words “Hello, my joy”. He preferred solitude, yet in the end received the repentant, the demanding and the needy every day, seeking above all their return to God. This book offers an extensive biography together with the complete dialogue between St. Seraphim and his friend Nicholas Motovilov on the teaching about the Holy Spirit. In the life of this nineteenth-century Elder the ancient riches of monastic tradition become visible.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

An anonymous Russian pilgrim

De Openhartige Verhalen van een Russische Pelgrim

Dutch edition of The Way of a Pilgrim

The book follows the spiritual journey of an anonymous Russian pilgrim of the nineteenth century. Moved by the Apostle Paul's command to "pray without ceasing", he wanders through the forests and steppes of Russia in search of an experienced Elder to teach him the secret of the unceasing Jesus Prayer. The narratives are rooted in the Philokalia, the Fathers' collection on hesychasm and inner prayer; on the way he meets simple people and spiritual masters, endures hunger, theft and exhaustion, but also knows great insight and joy. André De Neve's translation gives all three parts of the Russian original in Dutch in full for the first time.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

Unknown priest in a Russian concentration camp

Akathist van dankzegging aan de Heilige Drie-eenheid

Akathist of Thanksgiving to the Holy Trinity

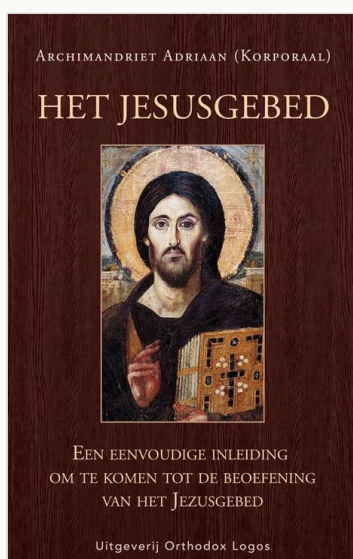

This Akathist of thanksgiving is attributed to an unknown priest in a Russian concentration camp. In his suffering he used prayer to draw nearer to the Holy Trinity, to experience the love of the Trinity and to express his gratitude, and the text was smuggled out of the camp. In this hymn of praise the priest thanks God for the beauty of nature, for the abundance of blessings and for the constant presence of the Holy Trinity in his life, even in the hardest moments. It honours God's all-present care, from the wonders of creation to the inner peace He gives the believing soul, and offers comfort to all who seek constant gratitude.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

Archimandrite Adriaan (Korporaal)

Het Jezusgebed

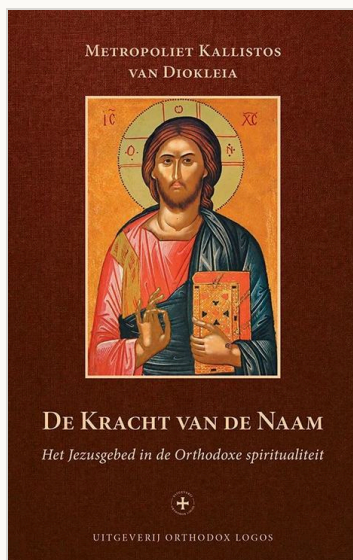

The Jesus Prayer

"Lord Jesus Christ, Son of God, have mercy on me, a sinner." With this simple cry the Orthodox tradition teaches us to pray without ceasing, and in this book Archimandrite Adriaan explains what the Jesus Prayer is and is not: no Eastern meditation technique and no trick for producing mystical experiences, but a sober, loving turning to Christ. He discusses its biblical roots, the light of Tabor, the power of the Name and the hesychast way, drawing on the Philokalia, and gives practical advice for beginners: pray slowly, without haste or artifice, weigh the words, and be faithful in small things, until the prayer begins to pray itself.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

Metropolitan Kallistos (Ware) of Diokleia

De Kracht van de NaamDutch edition of The Power of the Name: The Jesus Prayer in Orthodox Spirituality

This classic exposition of the Jesus Prayer brings out the living Orthodox tradition and theology. Metropolitan Kallistos lets the Hesychasts, the masters of stillness, speak to us directly, and shows that everyone who prays can benefit from their teaching if they take it to heart. He also gives a concise view on related questions: breathing techniques, the possible link between the way of the Name in Orthodoxy and comparable methods in other religions, and the legitimacy of practising the Prayer for the growth of a personal faith in Christ. Many reprints and translations testify to its lasting value.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

A Monk of the Eastern Church

Het JezusgebedDutch edition of The Jesus Prayer

This little work, the first Dutch reissue since the translation of 1984, is part one of the series Prayer and Life and rich in spiritual thought. Its author, who writes anonymously as “A Monk of the Eastern Church”, describes various aspects of the holy Name and follows a method of prayer known in spiritual literature as hesychasm, which the early Fathers already practised and taught. In the East the prayer remains common among the faithful and in monasteries. As the preface to the English edition says, the booklet is aimed purely at practice, to make Christian lay people and perhaps many religious acquainted with “the way of the holy Name”.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

Metropolitan Anthony of Surozh

De Weg Naar BinnenDutch edition of School for Prayer

The Way Inward is the Dutch edition of Metropolitan Anthony's classic on prayer, School for Prayer, written out of his own spiritual life. It includes a long interview in which he speaks of his turbulent childhood, his career as a physician, his experiences in the French Resistance, and his conversion and calling to the priesthood. The new edition also contains the two meditations on the Mother of God and on Elder Silouan that belonged to the original. The book is written for those who want to experience prayer rather than only read about it, and it teaches that stillness before God makes us better able to listen to others.

PRAYER AND THE JESUS PRAYER

Archpriest Silouan Osseel

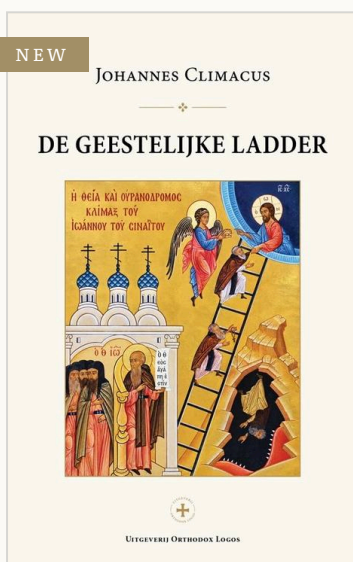

Catechetisch Woord over het Gebed van het Hart

A Catechetical Word on the Prayer of the Heart

Archpriest Silouan Osseel so admired St. Silouan the Athonite that he took the name Silouan when he was ordained priest. For twenty-five years, together with his wife Oda, he served the parish of St. Nektarios of Aegina in Eindhoven, and he reposed in the Lord on 19 April 2015. This short book began as an address to his parishioners: a concise exposition of the Jesus Prayer, meant to ensure that they understood its true meaning and practised it properly, avoiding pitfalls. His aim was a state of presence in which the mind is wholly absorbed in the words, so that in pure prayer, as he puts it, there is nothing and no one but God and I.

St. John Climacus

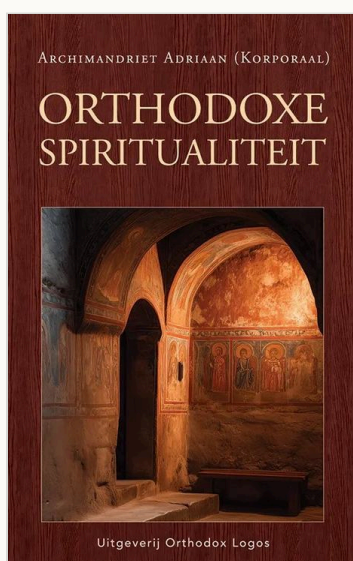

De Geestelijke Ladder

Dutch edition of The Ladder of Divine Ascent

St. John, abbot of the monastery on Sinai, wrote in the seventh century a book for his brethren and called it a ladder, after the one Jacob saw, with thirty steps for the thirty years of the Lord at His baptism in the Jordan. It begins where each of us stands, with renunciation of the world, obedience and the tears of repentance, leads through the passions to humility, discernment, stillness and prayer, and ends in faith, hope and love. It has been read in Great Lent for centuries, and the Fourth Sunday of Lent is dedicated to St. John. Paul Gilis's translation from the Greek (Bethlehem Abbey, 2002) is reissued here with permission.

De zin van ons leven*The Meaning of Our Life*

The question of the meaning of life presses itself on us as soon as we begin to think about ourselves, about time and about the suffering that fills the world. Archimandrite Adriaan (Korporaal) examines the tension between the pessimism of the intellect and the quiet knowing of the heart, and shows from the Orthodox Christian tradition how God Himself shared all human pain through the Incarnation and the Cross, why suffering and mortality do not have the last word, and how each of us is called to gratitude, compassion and priesthood for creation. Real meaning becomes visible only in communion, with God and with one another.

In the Orthodox Church Scripture is always read in the context of the life and teaching of her saints, and this book follows a line of that Tradition today: from St. Silouan the Athonite (1866–1938) to his disciple Archimandrite Sophrony (1896–1993). Archimandrite Zacharias, a monk of the monastery of St. John the Baptist in Essex founded by Elder Sophrony, shares what he has received. The book is based on lectures given in the United States in 2001 as an introduction to the theology of St. Silouan and Elder Sophrony. Two further lectures show the essence of this teaching in the monastic way, as an example for all who live in the world.

LITURGY AND SACRAMENTS

Vesperlezingen van de Grote Zaterdag

Vesper Readings for Holy Saturday

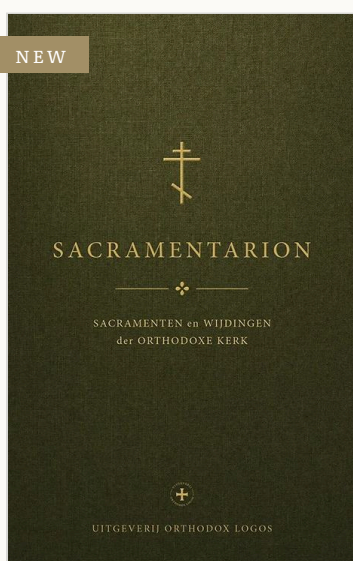

On Holy Saturday, on the eve of Pascha, the Orthodox Church reads fifteen Old Testament lessons at Great Vespers, from the beginning of Genesis to the song of the three youths in Daniel. They tell the Pascha before the Pascha, from creation and the exodus from Egypt to Jonah and the prophecies of Isaiah, and prepare the congregation for the Resurrection. The book gives all fifteen paremia in the order of the service with their Scripture references, in a Dutch translation from the Septuagint; each keeps its original number, so a shortened service can use the odd or the even ones. It is a hardbound edition for use during the service.

Biecht en communie*Dutch edition of Confession and Communion*

This reissue of Fr. Alexander Schmemmann's classic draws on the sacramental and liturgical tradition of the Orthodox Church to recover a view of the Mysteries of confession and Holy Communion that has largely been lost within the Church. As the leading liturgical scholar he was, Schmemmann examines the meaning of Communion and the present norm for receiving it, setting it beside what Scripture and the holy Fathers wrote on the subject. In this way he shows a remarkable decline in how the Body and Blood of Christ are received today. The author taught liturgical theology at St. Vladimir's Seminary near New York.

Archimandrite Nektarios Antonopoulos

TerugkeerDutch edition of The Return: Repentance and Confession

Archimandrite Nektarios Antonopoulos (since 2013 Metropolitan of Argolis) writes about repentance and confession as the way back to God and to His Church. He warns that treating good and evil as relative is a treacherous trap for the Christian, and that despair over our own recurring failings can become a psychological trap of its own. In the Orthodox understanding the return to God takes place within and through the Church, in the Mystery of Confession, which is part of what is called metanoia. Confession is not a tribunal but the moment when the son comes to himself, rises and goes to his Father, who embraces him with great joy.

THEOLOGY AND DOCTRINE

St. John Maximovitch

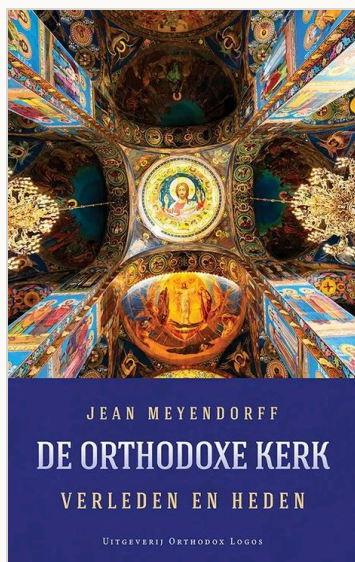

De Orthodoxe Verering van Maria 'De Theotokos'Dutch edition of The Orthodox Veneration of Mary the Birthgiver of God

A right understanding of Mary, the Mother of God, is essential to a right understanding of Jesus Christ, the incarnate Son of God, for when her image is distorted, the image of her Son is distorted too. In this concise study St. John Maximovitch describes how the Orthodox Church has venerated the Theotokos through the centuries and answers the main errors that have tried to change this veneration: ancient heresies and later deviations in Western Christianity. He explains why the Virgin Mary must truly be called Mother of God, and why one cannot say she was incapable of sinning or call her a “Co-Redemptress” alongside Christ, the only Saviour.

Nicolas Lossky

De mensenrechten in het licht van het Evangelie*Human Rights in the Light of the Gospel*

Human rights have proved a difficult subject: nearly everyone appeals to them, speaks of them and defends them, yet it is less clear what the Gospel says about them. Nicolas Lossky considers whether Christians are expected to protect these rights as formulated by man, or are bound by an entirely different precept. In this written-out lecture, given at the Fifth Orthodox Congress in Western Europe, he gives an extensive and at times unexpected answer, pointing to what Scripture instructs us to do. In 1962 the young Eugene Rose began a monumental chronicle of the denial of truth in the modern age, and of the hundreds of pages he gathered, only this essay on nihilism survives in complete form. He argues that the root of all modern thought and life is the conviction that truth is relative, and he shows how that conviction has been put into practice in our time. Quoting Nietzsche, who foretold the triumph of nihilism in the twentieth century, he explains why present-day ideas and values are drifting toward moral anarchy. In the years after the Second World War Christians in the Soviet Union were still fiercely persecuted, and in the Caucasus mountains hermits, monks and nuns lived hidden away in very harsh conditions. The monk Merkurius lived there from 1950 to 1980 and kept notes throughout those thirty years, and this book is the result. He introduces many of the hermits, among them the brothers and nuns who live near the lake, and tells the life story of a young girl who, given the gift of unceasing prayer, survived a winter alone as a hermit. The book is a valuable record of how much these ascetics invested in the practice of the Jesus Prayer.

Thirza Buijck

Eufrosynus en het koninkrijk van God*Euphrosynos and the Kingdom of God*

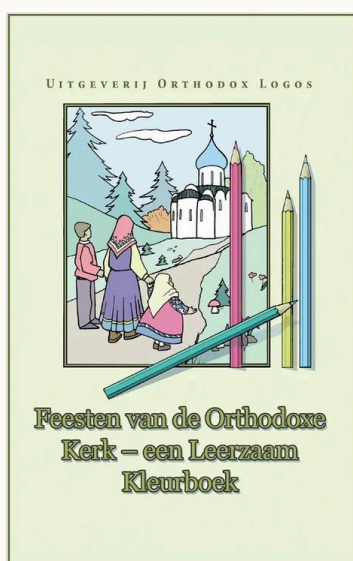

Euphrosynos was a very ordinary boy who learned slowly and was bullied for it. When he helped in the fields of a monastery he hummed the songs of the Church, and the monks sang along gladly; so began a life that no one had seen coming. As the monastery's cook he cut the vegetables, tended the fire and cleaned up, and in the quiet kitchen he spoke with God all day long, while the monks argued about what the Kingdom of God is. This lovingly retold life of a saint for children, beautifully illustrated, is also available in an English edition.

Orthodox Logos – For Children

Gebedenboek Voor Kinderen

Prayer Book for Children

This prayer book for children, following the Orthodox Christian tradition, speaks directly to the young reader in a friendly voice. It explains that prayer means asking God for something or thanking Him, that it can be said aloud or in silence because God always hears and knows all our thoughts and feelings, and that one first learns to pray aloud by going to church. The services are held in Dutch, the book says, because it matters to speak to God in one's own language. Children are encouraged to pray every morning, afternoon and evening, since we live for God and were created to be in contact with Him.
